THE STATE

Lush landscapes. Rolling hills. Unyielding vibrant culture. Welcome to Nagaland. Dubbed the "Land of Festivals," this northeastern jewel is a breathtaking convergence of rich biodiversity and warm communities. But it is more than just natural beauty. It is a living bastion of legal pluralism. Inhabited by numerous indigenous tribes, Nagaland operates under a unique system of customary laws, fiercely protected under Article 371A of the Constitution of India, governing lineage, resource management, and ancestral inheritance.

The Host City

KOHIMA

Kohima is more than a capital. It is a legacy. Perched at an elevation of over 1,400 meters, it offers crisp mountain air and panoramic views of the surrounding Naga hills. It remembers the history-defining World War II Battle of Kohima. Today, it drives the political, cultural, and intellectual pulse of the state. Hosting this competition here provides visiting law students not just a rigorous academic arena, but a firsthand experience of the resilience and dynamic spirit of Nagaland's premier city.
